Dr. James Jauncey to Speak At WT Summer Convocation

Dr. James H. Jauncey, minister of the First Christian Church of El Paso, will be the speaker for summer convocation Friday, August 18, at West Texas State College.

Approximately 195 graduating students expect to receive degrees at the summer commencement exercises, scheduled at 8 p.m. in new Buffalo Stadium, north of the campus.

Second summer term at WT will close August 18 with final examinations. President and Mrs. James P. Cornette will honor graduating students and their families at a reception at their home Wednesday, August 16, at 8 p.m.

Referring to himself as a "human engineer," Dr. Jauncey is an engineer and scientist by training and experience. He was reared as the oldest of 15 children in conditions of poverty and privation in the wilderness of Australia. In spite of handicaps, he acquired an education by means of competitive scholarship and now holds 10 earned academic degrees from some of the world's greatest universities, covering the highest levels of achievement in science, history, psychology, and divinity.

DR. JAMES H. JAUNCEY

Dr. Jauncey holds professional rank in the British Psychological Society and fellowship in the Royal Geographical Society. He is listed in Who's Who in American Education.

Dr. Jauncey was a technical advisor to the Australian government during World War II, after which he became head of the Department of Science and Mathematics at Kings College in South Australia.

After coming to America in 1948, he taught at graduate schools on the West Coast until he became engaged on a scientific project at White Sands Missile Range, which he left in 1958 to become minister in El Paso. He became a naturalized citizen in 1954.

During the years Dr. Jauncey has had continual experience in clinical psychology. He has published over 300 manuscripts in more than 30 magazines. He is the author of two books on guided missiles, one on psychology and religion applied to living, "This Faith We Live By," and one on science and religion, "Science Returns to God."

He is a nationally known speaker, and his talks in all areas of human living won for him a major Freedom Foundations award in 1960.

HONORED at the old settlers' reunion last Saturday were the three above. At left is Mrs. B.C. Taylor Sr., who was recognized as the person living the longest time in Randall County (73 years). Center is J.W. Foster, 94, who was the oldest person attending. And at right is Mrs. Vera Rusk of Fontana, California, who was recognized as the person traveling the farthest distance to the celebration.

Rodeo, Reunion Best Ever

Canyon has just wound up one of the rip roaring rodeo celebrations in the town's history.

Thousands lined the streets here last Friday afternoon to see a parade featuring riding clubs from across the area. Many of the crowd (about a thousand) stayed for the Walter Jetton barbecue served a little later on the court house lawn.

The two night rodeo performances with stock from the Ratjen string had overflowing crowds both evenings.

More than 125 old timers registered at the old settlers' reunion Saturday afternoon and again a goodly portion of the crowd stayed on to attend a pancake supper at Legion Hall. Plainview riding club was first place winner in the parade Friday afternoon. The Hereford club was second. The Lone Star junior riding club was first in its division and the Hereford club was second.

At the old settlers' reunion Mrs. B.C. Taylor, Sr., was honored as the oldest resident of Randall County attending the affair.

Mrs. Taylor is 83 years old and has lived here in Canyon for the past 73 years. She is the former Miss Dollie Thompson and her dad was known as Uncle Nick in the old days. The Thompsons moved here from Jones County in 1888. The family lived in a dugout south of Canyon.

Mrs. Vera Rusk of Fontana, California, was honored as the person having traveled the longest distance to the reunion. Mrs. Rusk left Canyon in 1934 and has been living in California since 1939.

J.W. Foster, 94 years old, was honored as the eldest person present. All three of the David Hanig, English instructor at West Texas State College, received cuts about the hand Wednesday when he walked into a plate glass window at Warren's.

Observers said he was walking out of the store reading some papers at the time of the accident.

Charges Dismissed

Disturbance charges against Sandra Manley have been dismissed by County Judge Wayland Angel.

Miss Manley was one of several Amarillo young people charged as an aftermath of a party in South Amarillo early last month. Criminal District Attorney A.W. Lair indicated that charges were dropped for lack of evidence.

In the meantime, disturbance charges have been filed against Lloyd Jacobs. He has not been arraigned as yet.

$150,000 Needed For Production

Drive to raise funds for building an amphitheater for production of a symphonic drama in Palo Duro Canyon will be kicked off here next week.

This information came this week from Mrs. Ples Harper, president of the board of directors of Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., which is promoting the drama. A meeting of persons interested in the production will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Branding Iron Theater.

An effort is being made to raise some $150,000 across the Golden Spread to be used in building an amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon. Paul Green, one of the nation's foremost writers, has agreed to write a drama depicting Panhandle history for presentation in the amphitheater.

Palo Duro Canyon is rich in Panhandle lore and it will be this lore that will come to life under Green's pen for presentation in symphonic drama form at the very site at which it actually took place.

Members of the board, other than Mrs. Harper, include Pete Cowart, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Neblett, secretary; Jerry LaGrone, treasurer; and A. W. Lair, William A. Moore and Raymond Raillard, directors.

Promoters of the symphonic drama hope that the first production will be staged not later than 1963. Mrs. Harper said the drama is expected to draw at least 100,000 people a year.

It will play 60 nights a summer and will employ more than 100 persons.

Money is to be raised through sale of memberships in the foundation. Memberships, range in price from $100.00 to $125.00.

Mrs. Harper wants to enlist as many members as possible before the State Park Board meets here Aug. 20. "Let's show the board that we are serious about this project," she urged.

Mrs. Harper says Green has expressed belief that the qualities of perseverance, ingenuity and good humor are ones which the world badly needs today. She says he feels that the best way to emphasize this is through a "shrine play" about the early settlers of the Panhandle, a harsh but gorgeous land.

Although Green is in demand in many other places, he chose to answer the Panhandle's invitation because he felt he could best tell here the story he wants to write next, Mrs. Harper declared.

Some of Green's plays elsewhere have been running for several summers. "The Lost Colony" has run for 21 years and "The Common Glory" for 13 years.

Mrs. Harper said the Canyon and Amarillo areas will not be expected to bear the full load of making ready for the production. She said 11 area committees already are working in other communities.

Mrs. Harper points out that the production proposed in Palo Duro would have a marked economic effect on the community.

She told of how the play "Unto These Hills" in Cherokee, NC, has paid more than $100,000.00 in salaries in a ten-year run, paid $89,000.00 into the Cherokee Community Services treasury, expended $35,000.00 to encourage Cherokee crafts and provided $20,000.00 in Cherokee scholarships.

She says more than 3,000,000 persons have seen Green's plays in the past 19 years.

Three dramas in North Carolina brought into the state more than 350,000 tourists who spent $5,000,000.00 in and around the shows before 1954. All three have been running at similar capacities since, she declares.

Public School Pupils Resume Study Aug. 28

Canyon public school students will resume studies August 28, according to Joe Gibson, superintendent.

He said that all class work will begin then and students can expect a full day of studies.

Registration will take place August 24-25 for all students. High School seniors will register from 10 a.m. until noon August 24 in the high school gym. Juniors will register that afternoon.

Sophomores will register the next morning and freshmen during the afternoon.

Junior high students in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades will register August 25 in the junior high gym from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Elementary students, A through M, will register August 25 at the elementary school during the morning. That afternoon N through Z will register.

"School cafeterias will open August 28," Gibson said. "Meals will remain at 30 cents for elementary students and 35 cents for junior and senior high students."

All high school students who have moved into the Canyon school district since the close of last school term and who have not already contacted the principal's office should do so immediately, Gibson pointed out.

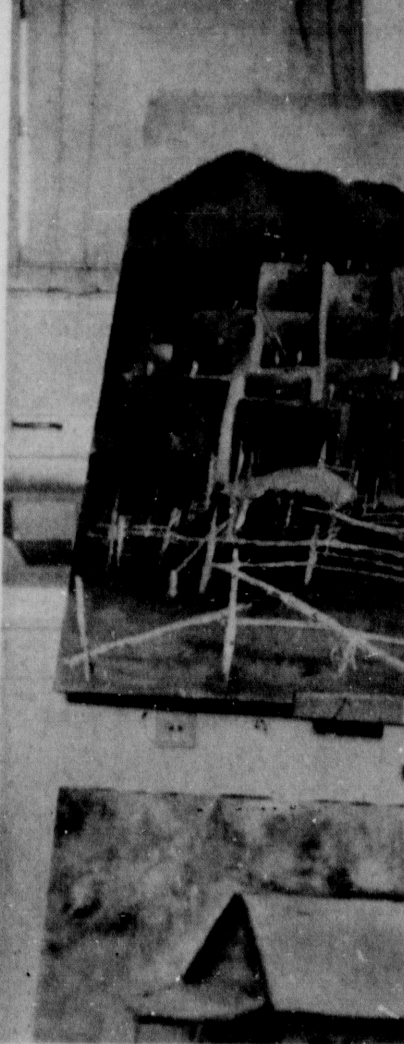

"Transcripts of the work done in other schools must be received before proper classification can be made and enrollment completed," he emphasized.

"Classification is based upon the number of credits a student has earned in previous high school years," Gibson explained. "In order to be classified as a senior, a student must have not less than 12 credits completed prior to the opening of school. Juniors must have not less than 9 credits. Sophomores must present not less than three credits. Those with less than three credits and those entering from the 8th grade will be classified as freshmen."

"The senior class graduating this year will be required to complete not less than 17 credits in order to be eligible for graduation. After this year, all senior classes will be required to complete not less than 20 credits in order to receive the Canyon High School diploma."

Gibson said that all students should be prepared to clear all past due accounts and pay a student activity fee of $1.25. Students having outstanding accounts from the previous year will be required to clear them before proceeding with enrollment.

BURL J. BRIM of Canyon will present a one man art show, opening in the Fine Arts Building on the college campus Sunday at 2 p.m. The exhibit will remain on display through August 20. It is being sponsored by the college art department.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

By Troy Martin

We feel like a real independent now. Last fall David Mathis, Randall County Democratic chairman, took us to task. This week we have a letter from Neal Allen giving us a hiding.

Allen is Randall County Republican chairman.

We think that this proves our contention that The Canyon News indeed is an independent newspaper. We scorn those newspapers which must continually hew to a party line.

Tuesday of this week a big white cat came to roost in our garage. Finding a car door open he clambered in and made himself at home until our eldest tried to eject him.

He answered tooth and claw and when the fur ceased to fly we had on our hands two hysterical children, bitten, clawed and bleeding. A trip to the doctor and ten days observation for the kitty added up to $15 in cold cash, plus a lot of anxiety for the parents and pain for the children.

Here's a hunk of a yarn from Lee Foster. Foster says he was calling at a house in South Amarillo on school business. The house was being repaired and the only people in sight were brick layers. A brick layer informed Foster that no one was home and kept right on laying brick. "Come on in," was the unmistakable reply to another tap on the brick.

Foster went into the house and saw no one as he looked around the room. Then from somewhere across the house came the challenge, "I can talk. Can you fly?"

Foster then noticed a large black bird. He stood in front of the cage and eyed the feathered creature, which turned out to be a minah bird.

"Screwball," ranted the bird as he cocked his head quizzically at the intruder.

We heard a story about a grizzled old master sergeant filling out a form before embarking for overseas by plane.

Summer Baseball

(An editorial)

The entire community owes its sincerest thanks to those who have made the summer baseball program possible for Canyon youngsters this year.

Many take for granted such programs as this. There is a tendency to assume that such programs will just happen.

Summer baseball programs do not just happen. They require considerable cash outlay and a great deal of time. We are thankful that many Canyon people are ready to provide the money and sacrifice the time.

The community should be especially grateful to the coaches, managers and umpires, and all others who helped.

It was a fine baseball season. May there be many more.

Girl Injured In Horse Mishap

Judy McBroom, 5 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie McBroom, suffered a fracture of the left arm Friday when she fell from her Shetland pony.

Judy had ridden in the Randall County Roundup parade and was enroute home when the accident occurred.

Candidates Return

Cadets Robert L. Black Jr., Troy E. Richardson, Donnie G. Bowman, Charles W. Adams, and Lewis B. Riley, all of Canyon, recently returned from six weeks officer training at Fort Hood, Texas.

This training is an integral part of the four years of military science instruction received under the ROTC program.

He came to the blank labeled "In case of accident notify-----"

In this blank the old sergeant laboriously scribbled, "Air Sea Rescue."

Bellinghausen Rites at Happy

Mrs. Gertrude Bellinghausen, 71, long-time resident of Happy, was interred at Nazareth Wednesday, following final rites conducted at Holy Name Catholic Church in Happy.

The Rev. L. Walko officiated at the 9 a.m. service.

Mrs. Bellinghausen died at 2 a.m. Monday in Neblett Hospital, following a brief illness.

Mrs. Bellinghausen was born December 29, 1889, in Ohio. She married John Bellinghausen in Knox County September 9, 1908. She was a member of the Holy Name Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband, of the home; four daughters, Sister Regina Marie, Sister Celestine Marie and Sister Mary Blanche, all of Fort Smith, Arkansas, and Mrs. Earl Backus of Nazareth; three brothers, Joseph Koenig of Goree, Leo Koenig and Ed Brinkman, both of Amarillo; five sisters, Mrs. Mary Jackson, Mrs. Bill Hood of Canyon, Mrs. Clara Peters and Mrs. Jimmy Austin of Amarillo and Mrs. John Cruz of Dumas, and two grandchildren.

LaGrone Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Exchange Student Thanks Plank

An exchange student from Norway has sent his thanks to the Earl Plank family of Hereford with whom he made his home while in the United States.

Earl Plank is a son of E. E. Plank of Canyon.

Mr. Plank was instrumental in getting an exchange student for the Canyon school system. The young lady to come here on this program will make her home with the Jack Haley family.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Your recent editorial criticizing the Randall County Republican Executive Committee's plan to screen candidates for county offices labels such an approach as "undemocratic," and predicts that it will be unpalatable to the voters of the county. To me it makes both good sense and good politics.

The Republican Party has come alive in Texas in recent months. Its phenomenal development has largely been due to its clear, consistently-espoused philosophy of conservatism. As applied to county government, such philosophy means fast, efficient service, fairness, economy, and absence of empire-building on the part of elected officials.

In order to win, we feel that our candidates must espouse this philosophy. In addition, they must have the necessary qualifications and ability to carry it into practice.

Our executive committee, or a subcommittee appointed by it, will try to find at least one such candidate for every office and have him file for our primary. If it finds more than one, so much the better.

Unfortunately, the possibilities of election to office on the Republican ticket may attract candidates who are neither conservative nor qualified. Virtually anyone may become a Republican merely by declaring himself one, and may become a candidate merely by filing as such. We are under no obligation to support such a candidate, either as individuals or as party officials. If our committee has found a better man for the office, we hope the problem will be taken care of by the voters at the primary. If it is not, or if the unqualified man is unopposed in the primary, we will not compromise our principles nor damage our party's position by supporting such candidate in the general election.

Your criticism misconstrues the function of a political party. I, as County Chairman, and the Executive Committee members, as precinct chairmen, were (at least theoretically) elected by "the rank and file Republicans in the county" for whom you profess to be concerned. It is our responsibility to find and offer to our party members qualified candidates for nomination in our primary, and if nominated to support such candidates actively in the general election. It is not our responsibility to offer for nomination or support for election candidates who, in our opinion, are not qualified.

If you are really concerned lest Randall County Republicans, and particularly those who live elsewhere than in South Amarillo, be prevented from having a voice in the matter of who become the party's candidates, you could do both them and us a great service by urging them to take an active part in the party's precinct and county activities. We'd be glad to have them! Yours very truly, Neal R. Allen Randall County Republican Chairman

Hilltop Views

BY DR. J. A. HILL

When something keeps one awake for two hours after three o'clock in the morning it is time to do something about it. I have very rarely experienced that predicament, but it hit me last night (as I write). Sleep just wouldn't jell in spite of all my sheep-counting. If I owned all the meek animals I counted and each had its full quota of fleece I could have made a wool suit for every citizen of Canyon.

My trouble? Mrs. Hill and I had been down-state and had visited some of the scenes of my childhood and youth. Awakening in the wee small hours last night I found my mind chained and hand-cuffed by a series of nostalgic recollections.

The locale was a vanishing frontier in the Central Texas blacklands, more particularly the old Chisholm trail country between Austin and Waco. The 3-room shack on a tenant farm where I was born was hard against that historic trail. Our recent visit there brought back recollections of moving herds, bull-fights, and the naming of Stampede Creek, on whose banks sat the little one-room school house where my formal education began. Also, I recalled my introduction to a snow-white cotton field where on my fifth birthday I picked 80 lbs. and father carried his new cotton picker to the house that evening on his back.

Nor have I forgotten a trip across the open prairie to Waco atop 4 bales of cotton a few weeks later. Father and I made our pallet on the ground in a wagon yard and cooked our meals in a frying-pan and coffee pot over a stick fire. Incidentally, that was the longest trip I had until I was about 17 years old.

Cotton picking over, five of us children entered Stampede school, formerly called Who'd-a-Thought-It. It was 3 miles away across a big sheep pasture--6 miles round-trip. We walked, of course, and carried our simple lunch in a tin bucket, usually containing fried bacon or sausage, corn-bread (biscuit rarely), sweet potatoes, and a snuff bottle filled with sorghum.

On our recent trip, the present remnants of my parents' family visited the site where the old school house once stood. The school itself, where my first teacher taught so effectively, exists no more--a casualty in the trail of modern progress. As I stood on those hallowed grounds, surveying the transformed landscape, the impressive figure of my first teacher, Isaac Newton Isbill, rose, as it were before me, and spoke of days long gone. My mind was flooded with fond memories and my heart overflowed with grateful emotions for what my first teacher did for me; and I said to myself again: "a really good and great teacher is the noblest of public servants."

Hard by the school site still stands, in tottering condition, the Baptist Church which father was most instrumental in building. Only a few hundred yards away are the baptismal waters of Stampede Creek, in early days fed by springs.

I cannot close this personal story without reference to the blackland farm my father acquired soon after the incidents above recited. It was here I grew up and shared with 9 brothers and sisters the experiences that characterized farm life in the closing years of the 19th century. They were precious experiences too, though they would look hard to present day eyes.

I regret that lack of space forbids any further mention of my life at this old homestead. But as I lay awake last night the following parts of a song of yesteryear, which I learned around the family organ, came back to me. If you have ever heard it you needn't worry about the draft.

"I am thinking to-night of my old cottage home
That stands (stood) on the brow of the hill,
Where in life's early morning I once loved to roam,
But now all is quiet and still."

Many years have gone by since in prayer there I knelt
With dear ones around the old hearth,
But my mother's sweet prayers in my heart still are felt.
I'll treasure them up while on earth.

Chorus
Oh, my old cottage home
That stands on the brow of the hill
Where in life's early morning I once loved to roam,
But now all is quiet and still."

In truth, there is no place like home when it is a good one.

Commissioners' Court Slowed by Vacations

Activities at the regular session of the Randall County commissioners' court hit a low Monday due to the absence of Wayland Angel, county judge, and C.Y. Johnson, commissioner of precinct 4.

Gene McGlasson, local attorney, filled in for Angel but the court only voted on one item.

They agreed to pay 8 cents per mile to John Brazzil, county agent, who will soon go to New York to receive the Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

Representatives from a voting machine firm appeared before the court to schedule a film explaining the machine's functioning. The film was postponed until next month.

Also, representatives from two cash register firms appeared briefly to discuss a register for the county tax assessor-collector's office. No action was taken.

Angel appeared briefly at the meeting but did not sit in on any of the business. This is his scheduled vacation.

Next week's meeting will be marked by the absence of Angel, Johnson and B.R. Jones, commissioner of precinct 1. All will be on vacation at that time.

E.E. PLANK AND SON, W. Jay, captain for an air line, are shown in the above photo near the entrance to the Tower of London. Shown with them is a guardsman. Plank said the tower is one of the outstanding points of interest to visit when in London. Among the very interesting things to see there are the crown jewels of England estimated to be worth millions. The guardsman is shown in the traditional uniform. Plank said that visitors are treated with highest degree of courtesy. He returned recently from an extensive tour of Europe.

Scouts at Philmont Ranch Hiking Through Mountains

By Randy Warren

We arrived at Camp Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico about 2 o'clock Central Standard Time.

The first thing we did was to carry all our packs over to a clear spot. We had our pictures taken and then because it started to rain, we picked up our packs and went to our tents.

The tents were two-man affairs with wooden floors and cots. The rain lasted about an hour. Because it was getting so late, we ate in the dining hall. Some went to the trading post after supper to get candy and pop before going to bed.

The next day we ate breakfast and then got our packs and took them to a clear spot. There we had a shake down to get rid of all the extra things we didn't need. Some of the boys took out about half of their stuff.

Some took out very little but later wished they had. As soon as we were finished we boarded a bus which took us to Carson-Maxwell, our first base camp.

It was there that we learned that water doesn't boil at 212 degrees, that splitting firewood makes you breathless and that carrying your pack you seem to get heavier and heavier every step you take.

Before supper we went horseback riding for three hours. We ate a good supper and then went to a campfire at which the story of Philmont was told. Philmont is located 5 miles from Cimarron in northeastern New Mexico. In Philmont there are more than 127,000 acres and they range from 6,400 feet to 11,700 feet in altitude above sea level.

The nights are cool and the days warm with a shower almost every day. There are 300 horses, the largest herd in the world, and 200 head of burro, also the largest herd in the world, located on the ranch.

Orchid flowers are found on the ranch. There is an abundance of wild life here at Philmont with everything from squirrels to bears which have to eat our food. There also is a gold mine in operation here.

Our first day on the trail was a regular 4 1/2 hour hike which we made in one and three quarters hours. We were really tired.

We pitched camp and most of the boys went to bed. A few went fishing. The fishing was poor.

The next day which was Wednesday we started toward our next camp which was up in the mountains. The going was rough and hot. We crossed the same stream 20 times going upward. About the 20th crossing, it started raining hard so we went up the side of the mountain and sat trying to wait it out. After about three hours we put up our tents and built some fires and ate.

That night is one that we will never forget for we were sleeping on an uphill slant of about 60 degrees. We stacked logs at the bottom of our sleeping bags to keep from going down the side of the mountain. The next day we were picking up our gear which wasn't staked down.

From there we hiked over Webster Pass and down to green valley which some people say is the most beautiful spot in Philmont. Here we pitched camp and plan to spend two days.

Firemen Answer Weekend Calls

Canyon volunteer firemen answered three calls in a three-day period over the weekend.

First was a light pole fire behind Warren's. It had reportedly started burning from a trash fire.

Second was Saturday and was a grass fire in the 2800 block of 3rd Avenue.

Last fire for the week was Sunday when a car blaze was extinguished in the 1300 block of 23rd Street.

Mrs. Nina White left Sunday for a vacation trip to Sacramento and San Francisco, California. While there she will visit with her daughter, Mrs. J.A. Grawdon, and family. Mrs. Grawdon is the former Helen White of this city.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Evans and children were Mrs. J.D. Prosser and Mrs. Louise West of Amarillo. Mrs. Prosser and Mrs. West are sisters of Mrs. Evans.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hill this week are three grandchildren, Celia and Gary Swinney of Pampa and Vicki Lynn Sloan of Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Rockwell and daughter, Marsha, and Gail Ann Downing are spending the week in Lake City, Colorado.

Wheelock Returns From Singing Tour of Orient

By Marjorie Lindsey Brewer

A few days ago, John Robert Wheelock, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Wheelock of 2124 Fourth Avenue, returned from a BSU Summer Choir Mission of the Orient.

He was one of a 14-member college student choir which toured the Far East in a two-month evangelistic music crusade and a goodwill mission sponsored as the annual BSU summer mission program. After months of auditions, interviews, and other tests, the choir was picked from 32 finalists selected from 93 applicants from 31 Texas colleges.

"Music was our key, as nothing else could have been, that unlocked the doors of the homes and gave us admittance where we might learn from the best source the nature of Far Eastern Civilization," Wheelock says.

The 14-voice choir was directed by Dan Pratt of Baylor University and had Louis R. Cobbs, associate in the Texas Baptist Division of Student Work, as tour director. This group, labeled as "Project Understanding," conducted music concerts, and led in youth rallies, retreats, revival meetings, vacation Bible schools, and youth camps. The principal places visited were Indonesia—especially Djakarta—Thailand, where they gave a special concert for the King and Queen and their royal attendants and spent two hours as guests and entertainers, Hong Kong, Philippines, Taiwan, Okinawa, Japan, and Hawaii. Besides the royalty of Thailand, the choir sang for the governors of Indonesia and of North Japan, and for members of our U.S. diplomatic corps in various places.

"Everywhere, we were especially well received by the elite of the land, royalty, and leaders," Wheelock says.

During the two months abroad, the choir sang in concert or special services for approximately 55,000 people and traveled much more than once around the globe. These travels were by jet planes, railroad trains, buses, and coolie carts.

"As a result of this trip, I have a new view point on life and a totally new perspective of America's place in Oriental affairs," Wheelock says. "I found that even over there where life is still in the raw for millions of people that those who have the determination and will to work rise above their fellows and reach success in their chosen fields."

"According to those in the Orient who should know, our country has an opportunity to wield a telling influence now, but we should act quickly before the time of opportunity is passed. After having spent hours and hours talking with the common people and the missionaries, even all night sessions with some of the missionaries, I am convinced that Japan is the key to the situation. The missionaries say that as goes Japan, so goes the Orient and the world. They say that if Japan is influenced by our Western civilization and is won for Christianity, Japan will win the Orient and then the World."

On the surface, Japan is Westernized, so Wheelock says. Western dress and customs are prevalent on the streets, but the Japanese people shed all these things at the doors of their homes. Arrived at home, the Japanese man is absolute in authority. Not only in Japan, but throughout the Far East, the plight of woman is sad and without hopes of anything better in the foreseeable future.

This Texas BSU Choir went to the Orient for the express purpose of gaining understanding between the Orientals of the Far East and the West, especially between college students. Most of the concerts were free so that the common people could hear good music and testimony for Christ. The choir refused to sing for any group anywhere unless it was also given the privilege of saying that the choir was composed of Christian students sent by Christians for the purpose of promoting understanding and for sharing our culture and religion with them and also for learning more about them.

Ross Fryer, missionary in Djakarta, Indonesia: "We can never really express our gratitude...it has certainly given us a big boost. The choir simply amazed us at how fast they picked up the national language and the people were thrilled to hear them sing in the Indonesian language."

Louis Cobbs, tour director: "I wish I could be objective enough to evaluate all that has happened to us...we pause in reverent gratitude that God has seen fit to use a group of college students in such a wonderful way."

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

Mary Caballero

There seems to be a great deal of enthusiasm about Shakespearean Festivals everywhere.

In New York the latest summer's outburst of Shakespearean festivals is a record-in-the-park series at New York City play grounds. Five full-length audio productions of the best known works of Stratford's hard are being given in an experiment devised by the Department of Parks and a recording company. The loudspeaker setup is being used at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, and Forest Park in Queens.

In reading an April 16, 1916 edition of the New York Sun, and an April 23, 1916, New York Times, one is overwhelmed by the great respect paid to the writer in special Shakespearean Tercentenary Supplements to these papers. The supplements were filled with many famous actors of the day and special articles written by famous writers of the world paying tribute to Shakespeare. A headline of one article by one writer reads, "He worked his way through experiment and error until he had learned his art, and never ceased his experiments."

Now 45 years after this special Tercentenary, we read again about Shakespeare being presented in the parks of New York. But times have certainly changed, and methods of presentation have been altered greatly. Now we have recording devices set up to send Shakespeare to many corners of the park, but 45 years ago, the parks featured 10,000 members of the girls' branch of the Public Schools Athletic League. A series of events featuring Elizabethan fetes were held in Central, Prospect Parks and on Staten Island.

There was one comment, in the 1916 Sun that Shakespearean dramas were cut and slashed and fitted into any form that best adapted them to a theater of modern day.

In a story called "3 Inventions" by Jean Dutoit in the July issue of Harper's Bazaar, you will find three little amusing stories and it was in one of these that the average man was described.

A professor was speaking to a class of 30 adults. He decided to describe the average man. I will give a few of those traits here. Actually he was trying to prove that the "average" is not a person but a "thing."

The "average Man" is 5 feet, 6 inches tall, his ribs measure 35 inches in girth, and his waist is 31 inches, his shoulders 23 inches across the back, etc.

"Each year he consumes 825 pounds of bread, 12 pounds of salt, two large sacks of potatoes. The average man is married and has two children, can read, write, and count, buys a daily newspaper and owns a radio."

After the class of 30 had decided that none of them were average, the professor said, "the Average Man" have been constructed with the aid of serious statistics. He represents no one exactly, but symbolizes the entire world, one must begin by defining the Average. The conclusion was that the "Average Man" is an invention of philosophy.

Bais, Negros Oriental Philippine Islands July 26, 1961

My dear Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Reeves,

My wife and I could hardly find a word to express our happiness and gratitude when our daughter, Priscilla, informed us that you, with other kind-hearted Americans have made her trip to Stanford possible. We could hardly believe it, but our prayers may have been answered so soon.

Left alone, our daughter would have missed the rare opportunity offered by Stanford University. Honestly, we could not afford to send her abroad for, out of eight children, seven are in school, two in college, two in the high school and three in the elementary grades.

Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Reeves, kindly convey our heartfelt gratitude to those who have made Priscilla's trip possible, and to you, receive our ther of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Mrs. Alvin R. McBroom served the cake, and Mrs. Delbert McBroom and Mrs. Gene Howell alternated at the punch bowl.

The couple will be at home in Happy, where the bridegroom is employed on the Travis Payne farms.

He is a graduate of Canyon high school and served for three years in the armed forces, with one year spent in Korea. The bride attended school at Haskell.

Philippine Father Thanks Canyon People for Interest

Mrs. J.D. Barker and Mrs. T.V. Reeves, who were instrumental in collecting enough money so that Priscilla Lasmarios, a Philippine girl, can attend a United States university this fall received the following letter from the girl's father:

sincerest thanks, and rest assured that across the vast Pacific, there is one family who will keep praying for you and the kind of people of Canyon, Texas. May I humbly say that your kind gesture reflects the greatness of the American people and has bolstered my faith in the good old U.S.A.

We pray to the Lord that someday, in one way or another, we may also be able to help some needy people. May the Lord preserve you and give you long and happy life.

Very sincerely yours, Alexander V. Losmarios (Priscilla's father)

Bride-elect Is Honoree

An unusual wedding shower was given recently to honor Marita Gill and George Prichard in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Higgins, northwest of Canyon. Theme of the evening was "His and Hers", and bridge and "42" provided the entertainment.

Aprons labeled "Boss" were presented to George, and "Slave" to Marita, and napkins bore the same inscription. Gifts included many cleaning supplies.

The serving table was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and decorated with a blue and white floral arrangement, in the bride-elect's chosen colors. Tall lighted tapers were at either side. Coffee and cake were served to the guests.

Present were the honorees, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Jaudon McCathern, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Prichard, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Polan, Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gill, Mrs. Ky Higgins, Mrs. E.M. Jones, Mrs. Mayme Cogdell, Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, Virginia, Linda and Suzanne, and Ed Drake.

The bride-elect, Marita Gill, was also honored with a kitchen gadget shower given in the home of Mrs. Raymond Railroad Thursday morning from 9 until 11 o'clock. Mrs. Jozach Byrd was co-hostess.

The table was laid with a blue linen cloth fringed in white, and centered with a miniature bride. Small nosegays of seasonal flowers completed the table decorations.

Coffee was served from a hand painted coffee pot. Other refreshments included fruit, miniature doughnuts and biscuits.

Twenty-five guests attended.

Canyon Group Visits Shrine Dramas in Eastern States

By Margaret Harper

The West Texas tour of Canada and New England has just returned after many and varied experiences.

Making the trip from Canyon were Dr. and Mrs. Ples Harper, Mrs. Mabel Culbertson, Miss Marsha Nan Barker and Mrs. Ed Harrell.

The party saw the performance of "Henry the VIII" at the Shakespeare festival in Stratford, Ontario, the changing of the guard in Ottawa at the Parliament Buildings, the scenery of Vermont, the tradition of Boston, the shops and shows and felt the heat of New York, and the tourist-crammed stateliness of Washington.

Among the experiences was the visit to the colonial city of Williamsburg. This was the capitol at one time and the buildings and gardens have been carefully restored to give visitors the knowledge of the life in colonial times.

One feature of the recreation of this colonial life is the symphonic drama "The Common Glory": the story of the life of Thomas Jefferson and his struggles in writing the Declaration of Independence. This great outdoor play with music and dancing has been running sixty nights a summer for thirty teen years.

It was of particular interest to the people from the Panhandle because it was written by Mr. Paul Green, who has announced that his next project will be a symphonic play about Panhandle history in an amphitheater in the Palo Duro Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Green drove to Williamsburg from their home in Chapel Hill North Carolina to be with the Texas group.

They accompanied Doctor and Mrs. Harper to conferences with the manager of the "Glory" and with the director and made many opportunities to discuss the plans for the drama with the Texas party. The announcers welcomed the group over the loud speakers just before the performance and the manager conducted a tour of the backstage area afterwards.

At a luncheon the following day Mr. Green had an opportunity to discuss Panhandle history with Mrs. Harrell. After the luncheon, Mr. Green talked to the whole group at some length about his plans in general for the Texas production and about the philosophy behind them, and gave the Texas visitors - all twenty eight of them - opportunities to ask him questions.

After Williamsburg, the tour headed south and west into the beauty of the Smoky mountains. The climax of this experience was attendance at another symphonic drama, "Unto These Hills," the story of the Cherokee Indians by Kermit Hunter - a pupil of Mr. Green's. In a breath-taking setting, this picture of the Cherokee history painted with singing and movement and color and tradition was a moving experience, and a fitting close to the special attractions of the trip.

The narrator, Mr. William Trotman, served as host to the Panhandle visitors and showed them the huge backstage area with tunnels and bridges and enormous electrical equipment required for the production.

Attendance at "The Common Glory" and "Unto These Hills" made the Texas travelers realize more sharply than before what a wonderful contribution to history and art a drama in the same form about our history in our spectacular Palo Duro Canyon would be. It also made the travelers realize how fortunate the Panhandle is that Paul Green, the master writer in this form, has been seized by the spell of the Canyon.

Black Family One of First Randall County

By Claude Money

Joseph Howard Black, 606 14th Street, was born September 1, 1890 at Caddo Mills, Stephens County. His parents, Dr. James Madison and Mary Willie George Black were gradually moving to a higher altitude for the doctor's health. Originally from Wolf City, Hunt County, Dr. Black had come to Canyon the fall of 1890 and secured land. Moving was unusual in that the doctor would stop at various towns along the way to rest and practice medicine; the family did not arrive in Canyon until May, 1891.

Leaving the medical profession for ranching, Dr. Black acquired fifteen sections about fourteen miles southwest of Canyon, paying a dollar per acre for railroad land and filing on school land. He traded two car loads of mules for two cars of bois d'arc post with which to fence the ranch.

Joe has many interesting and colorful recollections of early days in Randall County. Not recalling the year, but remembering it was during Cleveland's administration which ended in 1897, there was a very bitter winter which killed about half of Black's 1400 sheep. The next spring Joe made his first trip to Amarillo, accompanying his father with a wagon load of sheep hides to sell. They camped on Wild Horse Lake as old Amarillo was near that location. After leaving the ranch there were no fences until north of Canyon.

Still wrinkling his nose at this experience, Joe tells of another time he and his father were hauling sheep hides in shirt sleeve weather, and it came up a sudden blue norther. Joe's father put him under the hides with the wool turned in so that he would be warm. The warmth was hardly worth the smell.

The first school he attended was located across from the Craig place near Ralph Switch. Classes were held only during the summer months but were equivalent to the longer term in town. Many times as Joe and his brother Jim walked the three and one half miles to school they would see antelope; one large herd stayed on the tall grass around the lake northwest of the school house. Mustangs were still a nuisance and ran off several of the Black's horses. It took several men a number of days to walk down the heard and recover the stock. Lobo wolves were the menace of livestock. Two wolves would work as a team and drag down and hamstring cattle as large as a four year old steer. Coyotes were numerous and one of the boys' pastimes was to find a den and scoop a little dirt into it. If the old ones were gone the pups would whine and move around. Joe has used wire to twist as many as nine pups out of one den.

The Blacks moved to town in 1896, making their home at 1119 Fifth Ave. The house was two rooms which were moved in from the ranch and placed over a dugout. The children continued their schooling in Canyon except in 1898 when Miss Lilly Leonard was employed as governess at the ranch.

Joe completed Canyon High in 1909 and attended Trinity University, then at Waxahachie, the 1909-1910 session. He returned to Canyon to attend West Texas as a senior in its first year, Mrs. Armour Lee Marchbanks and sons, Joe and St. of Lovington, New Mexico, were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Daugherty. Mrs. Marchbanks is a sister of Mrs. Daugherty.

Guests in the E.E. Plank home west of town were Col. and Mrs. Ed Dreiss, of Washington, D.C. They attended the funeral of Colonel Dreiss' father, Ed Dreiss of San Antonio, and stopped for a short visit on their return trip to Washington. Colonel Dreiss has recently been transferred to the Pentagon after a year spent at the Naval College at Newport, Rhode Island. Mrs. Dreiss is the former Betty Plank.

tana's grass in the middle and late nineties. One herd in particular was so long that the end couldn't be seen from the front.

A Mr. Jones from Happy was picking up the last of the buffalo bones from the herds killed in the seventies and hauling them to Amarillo to be sold for a dollar or two a wagon load. While visiting in Hereford in the early 1900's, Mr. Black viewed one of the Spikes boys who was being held in a one room shack as Hereford had no jail. Spikes had been badly injured in a gun fight with XIT cowboys, in which two of his brothers had been killed.

About 1910, a most unusual race was held near the college. "Bunk" Long used two horses alternately against Travis Shaw on a big wheel bicycle. The race was long and closely contested, Long with the horses, one of which belonged to Black's, won.

Of the nine children born to Dr. and Mrs. Black only four remain: Thelma, now Mrs. Clyde Freeman of White Deer, Jim, Joe, and Pearl, all of this city. A brother, the late W. C. Black, followed his father's footsteps in banking, and was president of the First National Bank at the time of his death. Dr. Black entered banking when he helped organize and was president of the Canyon National Bank beginning in 1905. Later Dr. Black was president of both the Citizens Bank and the First State Bank. Together, father and son were president of every bank es-established in Canyon. Today, Dr. Black's granddaughter, Chloe Ann, is associated with the First National Bank, continuing a span of fifty six years that Blacks and banks have been synonymous.

Joe and Mary Mendenhall were married July 31, 1914.

Summer Camp One of Best Ever for Local Guardsmen

Canyon's National Guard mortar platoon kept up a brisk pace and attracted attention of Carl Phinney, division commander at their annual two-week summer camp, according to Donald Briggs, platoon commanding officer.

The Canyon Guardsmen trained on the vast Fort Hood military reservation just south of Gatesville from July 23 through August 5.

Briggs pointed out that the local troops performed for Maj. Gen. Carl Phinney, division commander, and were asked to put on a demonstration for Gen. Hubert B. Powell, commander of the United States continental army.

Phinney first saw the Canyon unit in action Thursday of the first week. Then when he found out that Gen. Powell would come to review the Guard's annual training, he requested that the Canyon group demonstrate skills with the 4.2 mortar.

Briggs felt this was a great honor for the local platoon but pointed out that it did not highlight the training.

Practice with the giant mortars marked most of the first week. "We conducted gunners' hops until almost every man could qualify as an expert," he said.

"We then practiced with sub-caliber rounds.

"But perhaps the climax of camp was Monday of the second week which we spent on the high explosive range."

The 4.2 mortar has an effective range of approximately 6,000 yards and the Canyon soldiers spent a full day on the range.

Phinney again visited the Canyon Troopers on the HE range. The day ended at 9 p.m. when the last illuminating round was fired.

The Canyon unit remained in the field Thursday after the entire division had returned to camp for the demonstration for General Powell.

Activities ranging from kitchen police to firing tests moved at a faster pace this year due to a rumor of mobilization of the division.

Troops throughout the division waited President Kennedy's speech which was made Tuesday of the first week. Even after the talk many of the troops still expected to be put on active duty for an indefinite time.

But when armored groups were allowed to leave at the end of Canyon's first week everyone realized that the camp would last only for the usual two-week period.

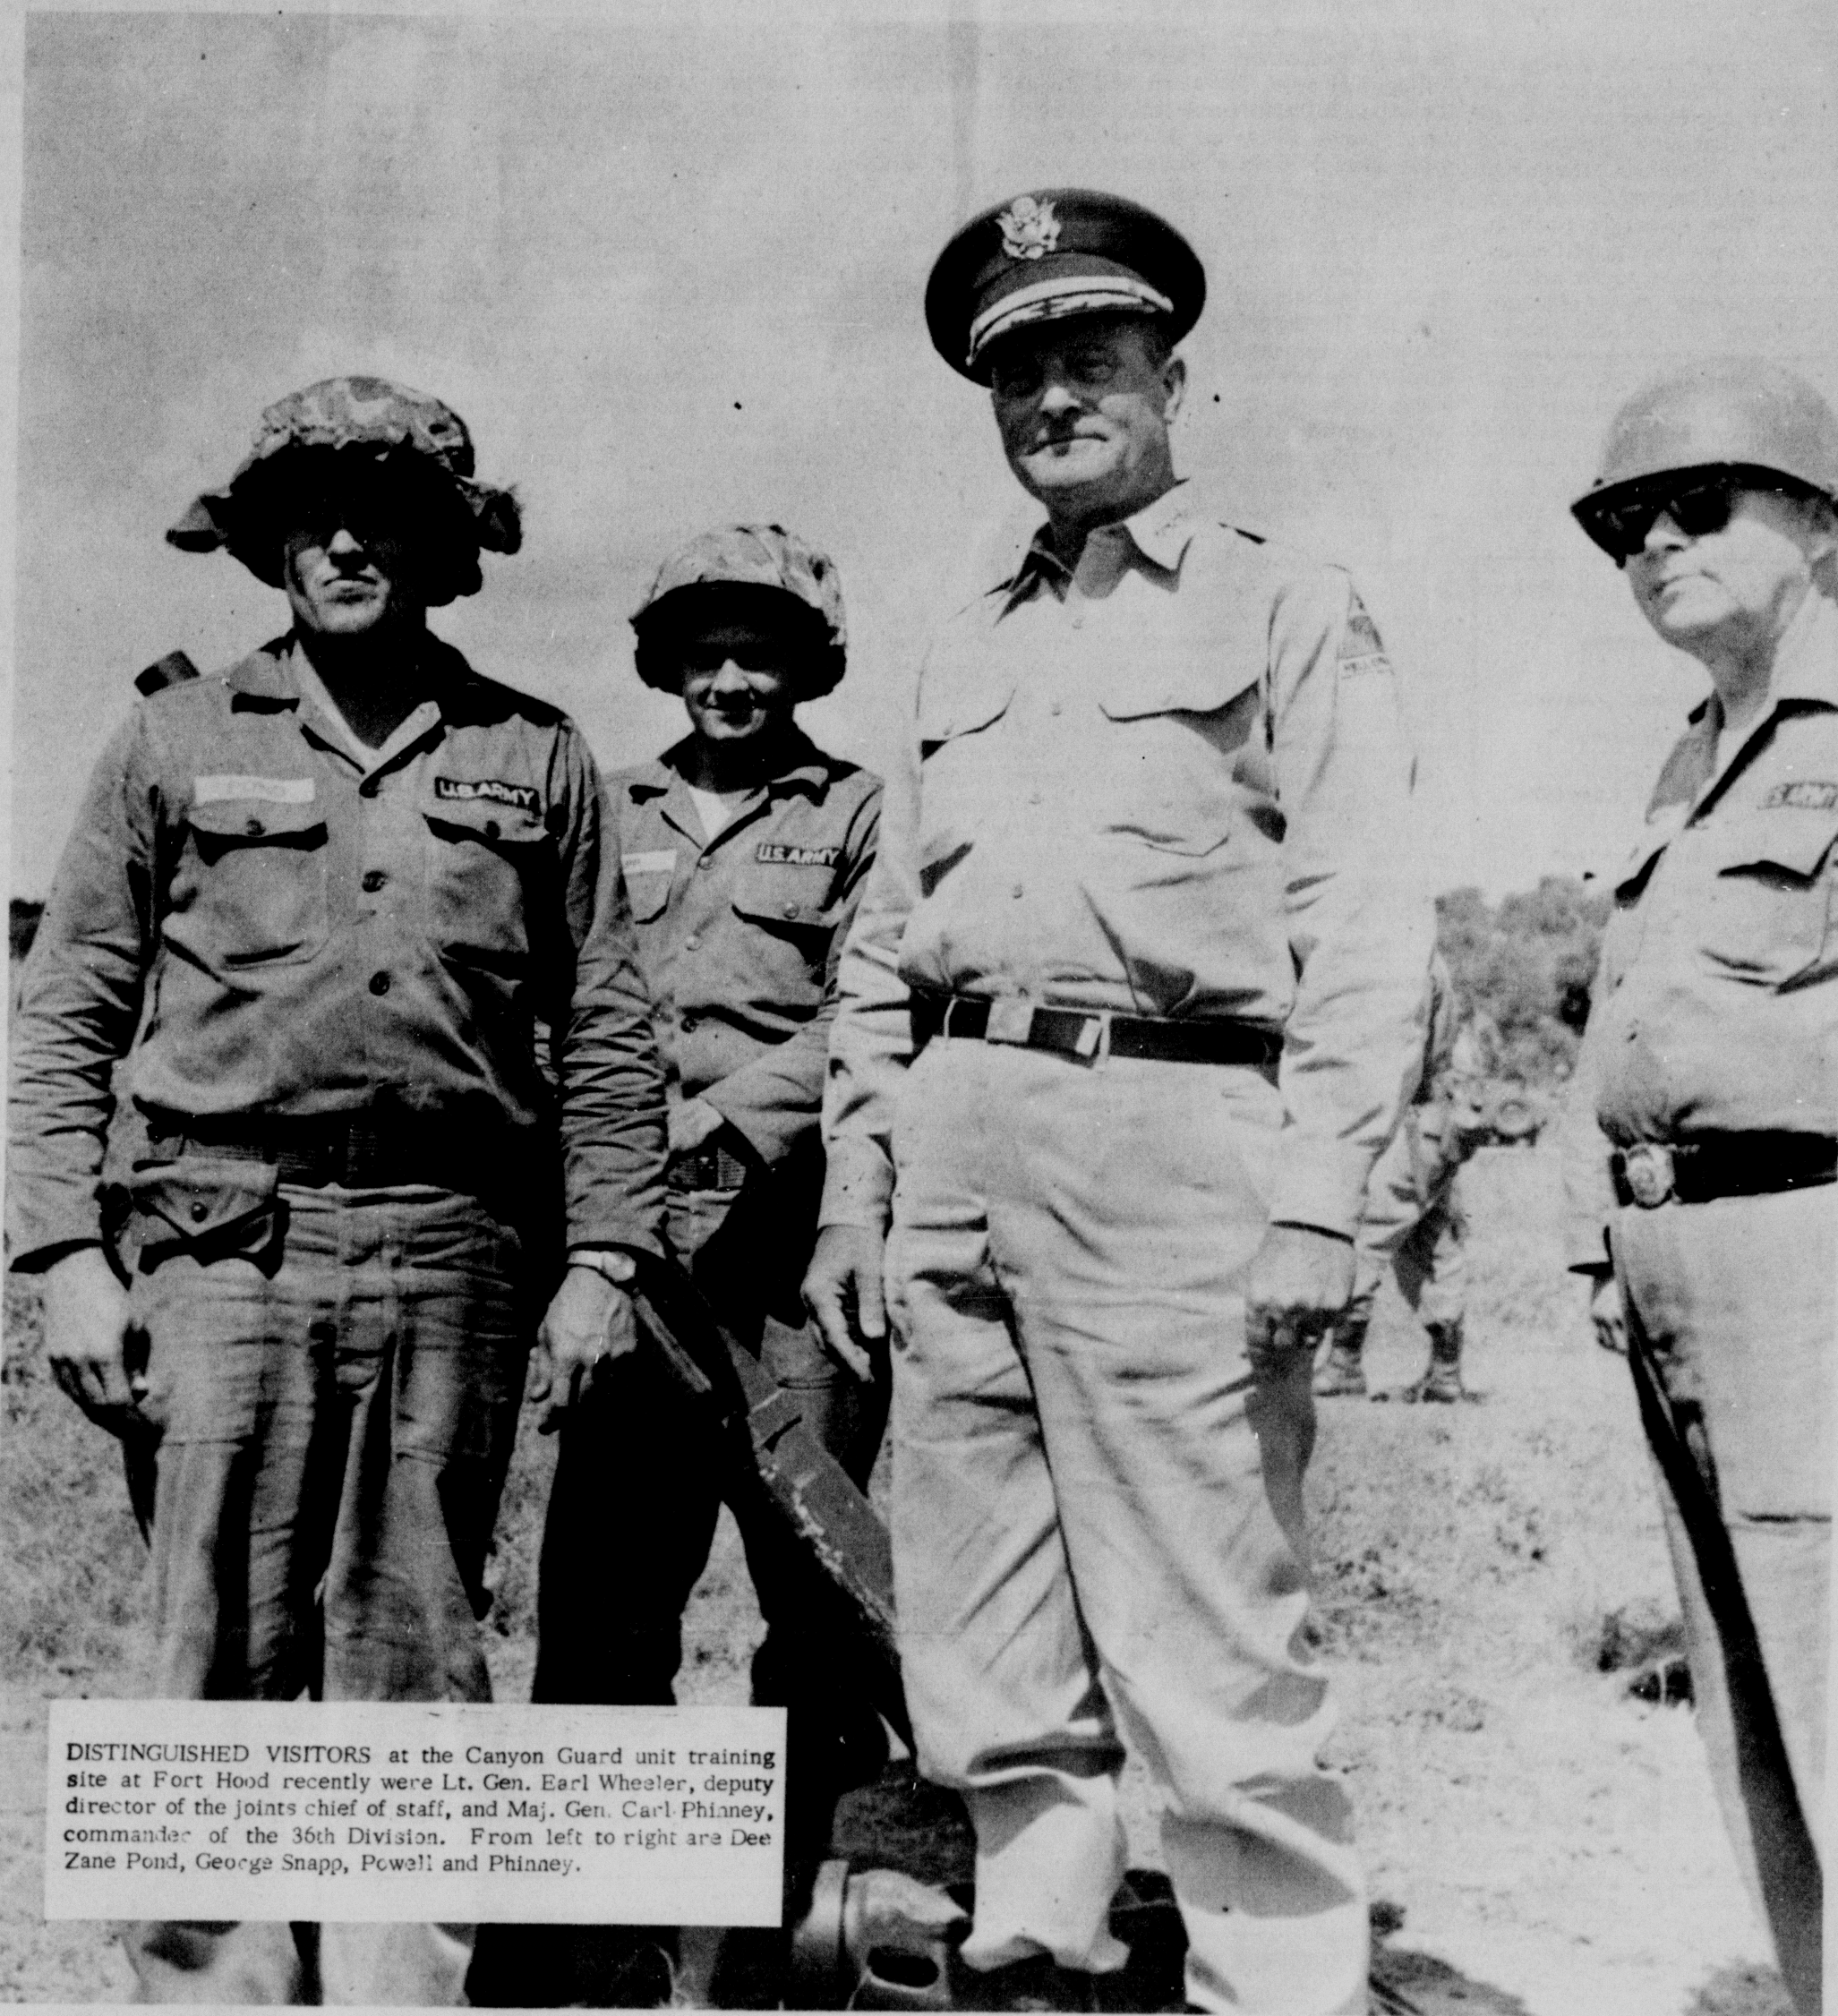

Then at the end of the second week spirits reached a new high when vehicles began the homeward journey.

Bob Wilkinson House Is Model 'Dream Home'

Mrs. Bob Wilkinson's dream home has taken shape at 2521 Tenth Avenue under the deft hands of builders from RAR Homes.

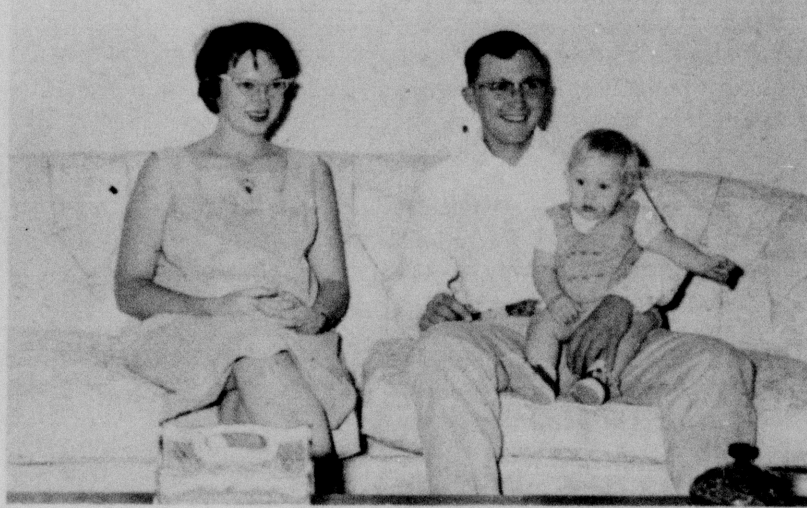

Mrs. Wilkinson planned the home but she admits that she "had some good help in doing it." Both Bob and the builders had a hand in it.

Norris and Harold Root and Joe Abbott glow with enthusiasm when they describe the Wil-rooms, an office (which could be converted into a bedroom), a utility room, kitchen, living room, dining room, breakfast area and entry hall as well as the family room or den.

It has two wood-burning fire places and a large covered patio.

The Wilkinson home is especially designed for indoor and outdoor living. It sits on a spacious lot 140 feet by 140 feet.

BOB AND NANCY WILKINSON, AND SON CHRIS

kinson home. It's one of their bigger jobs in the near two-year history of their firm and is their biggest inside the city limits of Canyon.

The Wilkinson home has 2398 square feet of floor space on the ground floor and 625 feet in the basement. The basement would bring joy to the hearts of any family. It is designed as a play room and is equipped with a wood-burning fire place that makes it ideal for indoor entertaining during inclement weather.

An upholstered seat the width of the basement is the design of the mistress of the house. The home has three bed-

Large glass doors look out on the patio from both the master's bedroom and the family room.

It is equipped with stereophonic sound and has hidden speakers in the family room. Tape recorders are built in.

Color scheme of home are beiges and browns. The luxurious carpets are by Casey and Marie Goynne of that firm assisted in carpeting and drapes.

Carpets are champagne except in the family room where the carpet color scheme is melon.

The family room and coffee room are furnished in early American and the remainder of the house is in French Provincial.

All cabinets have raised panel doors in early American motif.

One room of the house is designed as a nursery. It is finished in yellow and brown with a choo-choo train applique design on the wall.

Bob's office is sound proof and is equipped with a glassed in gun cabinet and book case. The Wilkinson home is just as imposing from the outside.

Its brick work has a distinctive early American flavor. Decorative cornices add to the attractiveness of the house.

A circle drive affords handy entrance and exit for callers at the home. The house is topped with a sturdy shake roof and it is equipped with three bay windows on the outside. There is a handy back entrance to the double garage.

If the home is a dream home for the Wilkinsons it is indeed a dream home for its builders who saw that every brick was placed with loving care.

Mrs. Burtz Finds Hobby Intriguing

Mrs. Mary Burtz eleven grandchildren and twenty-five great-grandchildren have found her collection of ceramic, blown glass and feathered birds very intriguing over the years. Possibly even more so because they must be admired from a safe distance.

The hobby began fifteen years ago when a daughter, Minnie, now Mrs. Buron Fewell of Ropesville, made her mother a gift of one bird. Mrs. Burtz bought another to make a pair. Soon, her other daughters, Clara, Mrs. Wade Bailey of Amarillo; Helen, Mrs. Earl Davis of Canyon; Mildred, Mrs. Claude Fewell of Lubbock, and Ruth, Mrs. Ancil Shewbert, of Dalhart, added to the collection with their gifts. Her son, Earl Burtz, contributed his share also.

Many other relatives and friends remembered Mrs. Burtz on special occasions with unusual birds of all colors and hues. Now her collection has grown to about one hundred, and includes such oddities as a pair of auk, grouse, quail, chickadees, blue jays, pelicans and pheasants, as well as the more common turkey, goose,

MORE of Mrs. Burtz' bird collection is pictured above and also displayed are two of the many silk pillows which she has smocked.

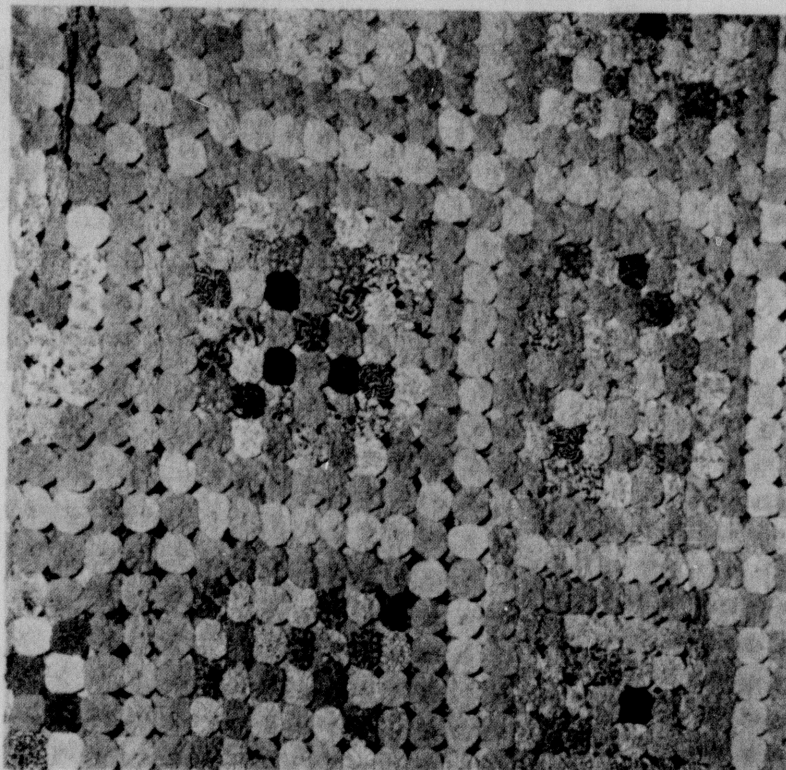

They remained with Mrs. Hitchcock for three weeks until their household things arrived by train from Nebraska. Then, they set out to settle on their land. Mr. Burtz discovered that while it seemed about ten miles from town by automobile; it was actually about twenty-five. It was located in the southwest portion of Randall County, near the Jim Leavitt place, where they secured their water supply.

Mr. and Mrs. Burtz and their children loaded their wagon with the necessary bedding and food supplies and headed for their new home site. The first night they slept on mattresses on the ground, and the next day put up a tent. The ground was so hard that by night, the tent stakes were driven down only about halfway. The mattresses were moved inside the tent for the second night. When they awoke the following morning, their sagging tent was heavy with the snow which had fallen during the night. That was considered a fortunate circumstance, since the weight of the snow had probably been all that kept the tent from being blown down by the strong wind. They lived in the tent for three months.

the Hutson school, and their mother helped the family finances by boarding and rooming the teacher for $3 per week.

The Hutson school was perhaps the smallest and best known "country" school in Randall County for a number of years.

as a windmill repairman for C. O. Keiser on his ranches, and the family became established as Texans. In May of 1928, Mr. Burtz was repairing a windmill and accidentally fell from the tower platform, sustaining injuries which were fatal nine hours later.

chickens and redbirds. They range in size from a miniature blue glass owl to the large swan and blue bird.

The gifts have arrived from many states including Michigan, Arizona, Nebraska, Oklahoma, California, South Dakota, and Missouri.

Shelves to display the collection have been designed and built by two of Mrs. Burtz's grandsons. Clyde Fewell, Minnie's son, fashioned shelves behind an ornate picture frame which is painted white and hangs on the wall. Erwin Davis, Helen's son, enclosed a door lead—which was not needed, and added a number of shelves to make an attractive display of the birds.

Mrs. Burtz has several interesting hobbies other than her collection of birds. She is proud of a "Yo-Yo" quilt which required three years of her spare time to complete. She has crocheted three table cloths and many other small-ler pieces for her home and those of her children. Lately has been smocking silk pillows.

Mrs. Burtz has been a member of the First Baptist Church during the thirty-three years which she has resided in Canyon. She has had the same teacher, Mrs. R.T. Bowman, for that length of time. She is also affiliated with the Canyon Mother-in-law Club and the Social Pioneers.

She, her husband, Henry, and the three older children, Helen, Clara and Earl, arrived in Canyon on one of the first immigrant trains in February of 1909. A land agent, Rube Newman and his partner, had interested the men of Fremont, Nebraska, where the Burtz family resided in coming to the promising land in the Texas Panhandle.

Mr. Burtz had made a trip to Canyon with the agents to look the situation over. They were met at the depot by automobiles, which were relatively new at the time, and were taken to the site of the land which Mr. Burtz bought. He was pleased with the country and crops he saw.

Mrs. Burtz said that at the time the family arrived, the dust and wind were blowing, as they have most springs since. The town was very crowded with immigrants from other states, and the only place that they could find to sit was in the Victoria Hotel. They remained there for several hours, until two rooms were found for them at Mrs. Hitchcock's. It was recalled that the present court house was just completed, and the old one was on blocks to be moved at the time the Burtz family came to Canyon.

MRS. MARY BURTZ is shown at right with a portion of her collection of colorful and unusual birds. The collection was started fifteen years ago with the gift of a single bird.

During this time, a one-room house with an upstairs room was built for the family, and their first well was drilled by the McDade Brothers.

Supplies were meager in the Burtz household for the next several years. They learned that the bountiful crop which Mr. Burtz had seen the year he came to look the farming prospects over was the exception, rather than the usual. Jobs of any kind were scarce, and merchants were hesitant in extending credit to strangers.

The Burtz children attended

It was commonly and affectionately known as "Ignorant Flat" by many of its alumni which include a number of persons still living in Canyon and vicinity. Since the school was only one room, it sat on many locations, and each fall was moved to a site which would be most centrally located for the particular children who would attend the school that year. Emma Key Bridges was one of the teachers who boarded in the Burtz home. Mrs. Bridges is now a teacher in the Kress schools.

RAR Boys Doing Fine Building Job

Everytime the boys at RAR Homes see a likely building spot their hands itch to get out and start building on it.

The boys in this case are Norris Root, Joe Abbott and Harold Root.

HAROLD ROOT

The Roots and Abbotts have been in the building business for generations. The boys grew up together and it was only natural that when they started their dream business it was together.

Joe and Norris were classmates back in school. Even then these two were associated in paint and papering business.

Joe's claim to fame, other than putting up fine homes, is his record as a high school basketball player. He sparked his team to state championship back in 1950 and won himself a place on the all-state cage team roster that season.

Harold Root is a brother of Norris and is about three years younger than his partners.

Joe and Norris did their stint in the service and then returned to Canyon to go into the building trade. Harold put up his stretch with the military and then went to work for Joe. All three young men dreamed of forming a company dedicated to the building of quality homes.

This came to pass early last year. Joe is a native of McLean but came to Canyon with his family when he was three years old.

The Root brothers are natives of Canyon.

Joe and Mrs. Abbott have three girls. They are Debbie, 6 years old; Vickie, 5; and Nickie, 3.

Norris and Mrs. Root also have three children, two girls and a boy. They are Cindy, 8; Greg, 6; and Holly, 3. Harold is single.

"We want to express our appreciation for the warm reception the people of this area have given us," declared Harold this week.

"We're proud of the Bobby Wilkinson home," one of the builders asserted. The Wilkinson home is one of the firm's bigger jobs to date.

Math Instructors Named For Fall Session at WT

R.G. HUFFSTUTLER

Two new instructors in mathematics have been named for the 1961-62 session at West Texas State College, according to President James P. Cornette.

They are Blakley L. Fargason and Ronald G. Huffstutler.

Fargason, whose home originally was Hermleigh, holds the B.S. and M.S. degrees from Texas Technological College. He has been a teaching fellow at Tech and a mathematician at Holloman Air Force Base. For the past year he has been a scientific programmer for the Boeing Airplane Corporation in Wichita, Kansas. He is single.

Huffstutler, who now lives in Amarillo at 3322 N.E. 20th, holds the B.S. degree from West Texas State and the M.S. from Colorado State University. During the past year he has been a graduate assistant at Colorado State while working toward his doctorate. He is married.

Dickey Gets Promotion

Richard M. Dickey, husband of the former Joyce White of Canyon, recently was promoted to first lieutenant in the US Army.

Lieutenant Dickey is a graduate of West Texas State College and is from Seagraves. He is serving with the 39th Artillery in Neurenberg, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Haralson and children, Jerry, Tommie and Julius, of Wellington, were weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Wells. Haralson is a brother of Mrs. Wells.

Guests in the home of Mrs. Mary Burtz over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Fewell and their grandson, Rickey Don Galtner, of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Bailey of Amarillo and their grandsons, Douglas and Mark Kile, of Fritch. Mrs. Fewell and Mrs. Bailey are daughters of Mrs. Burtz.

Eagles Stronger This Year Coach Webb Says

Canyon's Eagles should have more strength this year than last, according to Head Menor Jeep Webb.

"We should have a better ball club this year," Coach Webb declared before leaving for the coaching school being held at San Antonio this week. "How good it'll be, I don't know."

Webb and three assistants are in San Antonio this week. The head coach was accompanied by Assistant Coaches Charlie Chambliss and Allen Simpson and Bert Glascock, new eighth grade coach.

The new B team coach, Bob Byrd, did not make the trip. Webb said football practice will begin at 8 o'clock the morning of August 14. He said sixteen lettermen are returning this year. He also announced a few position switches.

Ralph Cabe has been moved from halfback to guard. He put on some weight this summer. Rutherford has been moved from center to end.

Here's how the team stacks up from end to end. Ends are Warren and Wayne Rutherford, Gary Lee, Benny Burkett, Eddie Pool, John Strietzel and James Boyd.

Tackles are Jess Sheets, Tim White, Wallace Busted, Truitt O'Donald, Stanley Prichard and Raymond Hill. Guards include Ralph Cabe, Terry Funk, Ronnie Brock, Marvin Hutton, David Staltenberg and Preston Prichard.

Centers include Ronnie Harris, Bob Haggard and Bill Jarnagin.

Quarterbacks are Davis Price, Don Brielting and Richard Green.

Halfbacks include Harry Lisle, Larry Holman, Bobby Dorris, Gail Cox, Doug Ward and Jim Whinnery. Fullbacks include Elmer Oberst, Bill Phillips, Gerald Vance and Gerald Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. V.J. Duncan of Lubbock were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P.M. Wilson and with Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Clark and Mrs. Olive Ford. Mrs. Duncan is a granddaughter of the Wilsons and a niece of Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Ford.

Lwood Dow visited in Canyon recently with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Novella Kirkpatrick. Dow is director of athletics and coach at Southern Connecticut College, South Beach. Mrs. Dow is the former Arnetta Kirkpatrick of this city.

ATTEND CAMP

Nancy and Sarah Beth Meyer, children of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Meyer, will return Friday from a one-week stay at Ceta Glen Camp in Palo Duro Canyon. They are attending a Lutheran church camp and are the only representatives from Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oleff Hamblen and children are visiting their folks at Wayside.

Verna Modisette visited in Amarillo last week.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by JOHN BRAZZIL

Randall County wheat growers will hold a referendum on marketing quotas August 24. Seven polling places will be in operation. They will be at the Canyon ASC Office, Ralph Elevator, Jowell Schoolhouse, Umbarger school auditorium, Howard Neuman home, Soncy elevator, and the Lynn Bennett home.

The feed grain program has been extended for the year 1962 and a new wheat program is out. Details should be out within the next few days. Right now it looks like a minimum reduction of 10 per cent in wheat acreage will be required to receive price support on wheat of about $2 per bushel. Higher leave out acreage will probably be permissible. Payment rates for leave out wheat has not been determined.

On October 3 a supervisor for zone 3 of the Randall-Potter

Soil Conservation District will be held. This is in keeping with the state law which set up the district organization, a farmer directed effort to encourage the conservation of soil and water resources.

Within the past few weeks many people have asked for information on the application of nitrogen fertilizer on dry land. With the acreage of wheat reduced the effort of a greater per acre yield is being made. This year fertilizer did give an economic return on a few fields that were treated.

The response to nitrogen fertilizer on fall seeded wheat depends on the moisture level. Generally moisture is our first limiting factor in wheat production on dry land. During years of good rainfall fertility can be a limiting factor. During a year of average or below rainfall, tests have shown that fertilizer on dry land is not generally economical. There is no reduction in yield however if fertilizer is applied and rainfall is short. There is no indication of "burning" of the crops as once was believed. Nitrogen fertilizer applied before seeding fall wheat does stimulate fall growth so that additional grazing is possible. Farmers intending to use fertilizer on dry land may do well to use it as a trial instead of a proven practice. Be sure to leave some unfertilized as a check.

The Randall County 4-H boys and girls enjoyed an overnight camp at the Canyon VFW grounds August 2. The VFW has been making it possible for this group to use their facilities for several years as a community project. To extend their program of help to the 4-H youngsters the VFW will award a handsome plaque to a 4-H boy and a 4-H girl for their outstanding achievement this year. This award will be made during National 4-H achievement week in November.

This is the critical time for irrigation farmers. Cotton and grain sorghum is capable of using about 1/3 acre inch of water per day. This means that an irrigation water application will need to be made about every 10 days for top yields. The cut-off period for irrigation water on cotton in Randall County is about August 25. Many lakes are available to use if water becomes critical. Some lakes are so situated that a minimum of expense is involved to put this water on crops where it is needed.

Little League All-Stars Lose to Plainview

Canyon's Little League All-Stars battled to the finals in area 11 All Star play offs recently, losing only to a Plainview aggregation.

Canyon's opener was a 5 to 2 squeaker with Hereford. On the mound for Canyon was David Rossi with Lynn Kelly rounding out the battery behind the plate.

Rossi yielded five hits. Canyon garnered only three hits but capitalized on Hereford miscues.

Joe Moore got the only hit for extra bases for Canyon. He rapped out a double to drive in two runs in the fourth inning.

The sixth was crucial. Ricky Sogree got a walk and Ricky Butler was on through a Hereford error. Then Jimmy Johnson laid down a perfect bunt to load the bases. David Rossi drove in two runs with a solid single and Jimmy Johnson scored on a passed ball to sew up the contest.

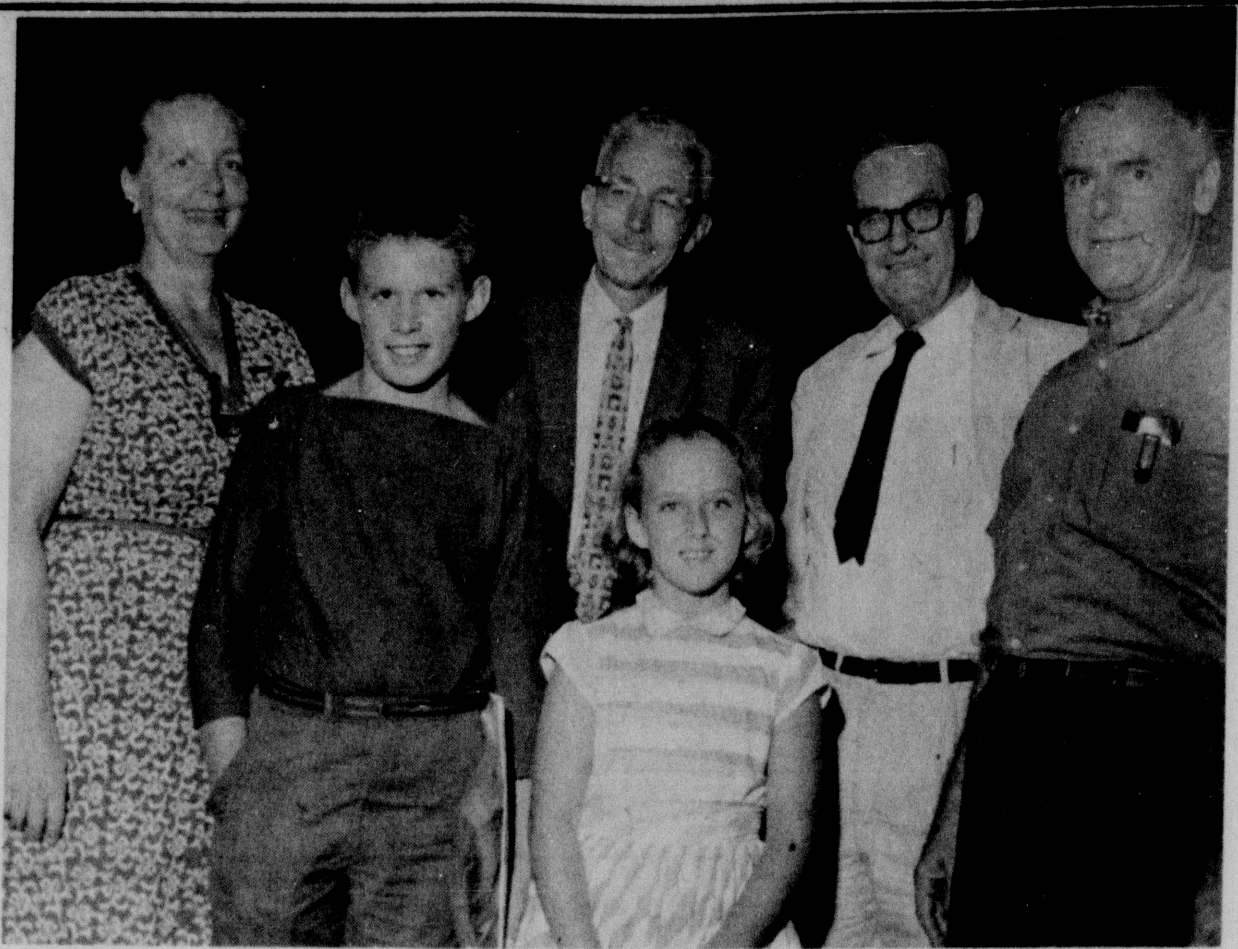

Canyon made a race track out of the diamond in the second round against a Nazareth nine. Canyon scored 16 runs while allowing Nazareth only five. Homeruns were many with David Rossi hitting two and Phil Huckaba and Mark Olson getting one.

The heart breaker was at Plainview where Canyon lost 12 to 7. David Rossi was again on the mound. The Plainview got to him for 11 hits while Canyon was able to stack up only five.

Lynn Kelly and Joe Moore took turns behind the plate. Rossi, More each slapped out a home run. Donnie Campbell, Plainview's able pitcher, kept a clean record for the season. He did not suffer a single defeat.

The Plainview crew went to the final game in the Big Spring play off. Young Campbell kept his slate clean even there by winning his game in that series. Coaches for the all-stars were Jim Boyce and Curtis Butler.

Harold R. Barnett was in Canyon visiting friends and attending to business Saturday. He was enroute from his home in Arkansas to Texaco, New Mexico, where he will be band director in the Texaco High School. Barnett was band director in Canyon Public Schools in 1940-41.

Marie Goynes, N.S.I.D., who is associated with the Casey Carpet Co. acted as interior decorator on the Bob Wilkinson Home. All of the colors and furnishings were selected with personal taste, living habits and future needs of the family in mind.

Because Nancy is such a very vivacious Brunette, colors were chosen to compliment her personality. This includes tangerine, Olive-greens and soft browns.

USE OUR CONVENIENT IN-THE-HOME SERVICES

We will be glad to call at your home with drapery, slipcover and carpet samples in the colors, textures and price range you wish. It's a simple, smart way to be certain of exact colors and sizes. Just call DR 3-1781. An appointment will be made promptly. No obligation.

In this photograph, you are looking from the living room into the dining room, which features a lovely french provincial dining room from the Davis Cabinet Company in "Heather-walnut" finish. Visitors immediately notice the carpeting—all wool embossed Wilton by C.H. Masland. Its high thick heavy pile gives the unmistakable look of true elegance and luxury. Specially selected 3 ply, all wool face yarns carefully twisted to exacting specifications of the particular Wilton assure long wear life and continuous good looks. We feel this is an outstandingly attractive combination of plush and loop face in a graceful and distinctive deep sculptured pattern.

All the Masland carpet throughout the home is HEX-A-MOTH GUARANTEED. This is an unconditional guarantee against damage from moths and carpet beetles for the life of the carpet.

Illustrated above, the spacious master bedroom. Take careful note of the lovely king size bed and the outline quilted bedspread with an exquisite floral design—selected to blend with the colors in the matching adjoining bath.

Here is the beautiful guest bedroom highlighted by draperies of imported cotton lace, lined with chromespun.

It is furnished with an attractive french provincial bedroom from the Davis Cabinet Company. It is of solid Cherrywood finished in Cameo White. In the center of the photo below you see the powder table scaled to fit into the graceful curve of the bay window.
